KEYNOTE SPEAKER: CHE "RHYMEFEST" SMITH

Driven by his motto, "true power is the power to empower others," Che "Rhymefest" Smith is a writer, artist, entertainer and humanitarian. In 2005, Rhymefest won a Grammy for co-writing the mega-hit "Jesus Walks." In 2015, he won a Critics Choice award, Golden Globe and Academy Award for "Glory," his collaboration with John Legend and Common for the film Selma. Che earned his second Grammy for his work on "Glory" in 2016. Che believes that in order to counteract violence, systemic barriers and apathy, we should encourage entertainers, athletes and entrepreneurs to remain and invest in the communities they come from. Che is committed to using his success to further humanitarian efforts.
