Key Updates - Migrant Situation

- All migrants have been cleared from all police stations, including District 19, and placed in local shelters or churches.
- Texas is not cooperating with city landing zone creating an even more organizational challenges
- Mutual aid team is reimaging what their work will look like now that there are no people staying at the 19th Station.
 - Making welcoming kits to hand out at the landing zone
 - Interested in helping with housing since that is a major hurdle for these folks
- Continue to advocate for access to housing, work permits, and more federal funding to help all people in Chicago

19th District Migrant Support

Key Updates - CPD Workforce Allocation Study

Ald. Matt Martin's Ordinance Introduced to City Council	Data driven and inclusive of staffing requirements mandated by the consent decree
	Introduces a timeline for completion
	Requires ongoing yearly analysis of staffing levels
	Ensures an open and transparent process by calling for quarterly updates and final report with recommendations released to the public as well as other city wide entities
Steps to Passage within City Council	A vote in early January by the Committee on Police and Fire to move it to Council Meeting
	Final vote at the January City Council Meeting (needs to get over 50% of vote to pass)
Advocacy - how you can help!	We, in addition, to many city leaders including the Inspector General, the CCPSA, and the Police Superintendent have publicly indicated support for completion of this study.

19th POLICE DISTRICT COUNCIL
 * Maurilio Garcia * Jenny Schaffer * Sam Schoenburg *

Members of the Chicago City Council,

We, Chicago residents and elected Police District Councilors, urge you to vote for a transparent, community-informed workforce allocation study within the Chicago Police Department when the issue comes before you in the City Council.

Officer salaries are the largest portion of the CPD budget. But right now, Chicago lacks a solid understanding of where and when to send our officers so they can best impact public safety. Response times to 911 calls remain too high in too many neighborhoods. Community policing suffers when officers lack the time to engage with the public. And officers' wellbeing erodes when ad hoc deployments lead to overwork, canceled days off, and burnout.

Perhaps most important, evidence we have to date suggests that current CPD staffing is not aligned with public safety. For instance, a 2019 University of Chicago Crime Lab study found that 14% of shootings are happening between midnight and 5 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays in the city's least safe areas, but just 3.8% of the work hours of Chicago police tactical teams were logged there during that same 10-hour period.⁴¹ In other words, CPD is not deploying officers when and where violent crime is most likely to occur.

The federal consent decree also requires staffing changes to ensure CPD performs effectively and constitutionally. The consent decree seeks to ensure that officers have appropriate guidance by assigning them to consistent supervisors and having sergeants supervise no more than ten patrol officers at once.⁴² But CPD's current staffing is a far cry from achieving these goals. A workforce allocation study could help map out how to achieve these important objectives to improve policing and public safety.

Key Updates - CPD Private Arbitration Vote

- Last week, the City Council voted against allowing CPD officers facing serious cases of misconduct to have their cases heard in a private arbitration rather than the public Police Board
- We believe the process for these most serious cases must remain open and transparent to ensure a strong relationship between the Department and other community members
- We'd especially like to thank all 6 Alderpersons of the 19th District for voting against this measure and everyone who made calls to let their voice be heard!

Key Updates - CPD Private Arbitration Vote

- Next Steps:
 - Goes back to the the negotiating table and, potentially, the same arbitrator for a decision. He has indicated he would decide once again in favor of arbitration.
 - Goes back to City Council for a vote.
 - If City Council votes it down again, it will likely go to court
 - Prospects in court are uncertain, but we believe it's important to uphold these principles in the City Council

Key Updates - Office of Inspector General

The Inspector General is the dedicated to government oversight. They conduct independent and objective analysis of government departments.

The Chicago Office of Inspector General seeks your input on potential projects for 2024. What topics are most meaningful to you? What's important to you is important to @ChicagoOIG.

A Few Words from Ald. Matt Martin

Introducing the Office of Inspector General

City of Chicago Office of Inspector General

Deborah Witzburg
Inspector General

Tobara Richardson
Deputy Inspector General for Public Safety

About OIG

The City of Chicago Office of Inspector General works to make City government better and to hold City actors accountable when they break the rules.

If you have information about misconduct, waste, abuse, or mismanagement relating to City officials, City employees, or contractors and subcontractors providing goods or services to the City, or suggestions to improve City government, report it to the Office of Inspector General.

About OIG

- ❑ OIG's oversight authority and jurisdiction is governed by the Municipal Code of Chicago and includes:
 - ❑ City officials (elected and appointed)
 - ❑ City employees
 - ❑ City contractors, vendors, and licensees
 - ❑ Lobbyists
 - ❑ Chicago Police Department (CPD)
 - ❑ Civilian Office of Police Accountability (COPA)
 - ❑ Chicago Police Board

- ❑ OIG achieves its mission through:
 - ❑ Administrative and criminal investigations;
 - ❑ Audits of City programs and operations; and
 - ❑ Reviews of City programs, operations, and policies.

Independence

- ❑ OIG is required by legal and professional standards to operate independently from the rest of City government
 - ❑ Structural independence
 - ❑ IG position
 - ❑ Appointment/Confirmation
 - ❑ Term
 - ❑ Removal
 - ❑ Budget protections
 - ❑ Operational independence
 - ❑ Work initiated at our own discretion

Feedback on Goals

It is foundational that community input be at the center of our District Council work. We are proud of the work we have done as a community these past seven months. As we think about the year ahead, we want to hear which priorities you would like us to focus on.

Please take a few minutes to respond to our survey and provide feedback on which goals you would like to see prioritized over the upcoming year.
