COVID-19 testing in Chicago is at an all-time high, with the fastest growth in our second surge.

COVID-19 tests, daily count and 7-day moving average, all test results, one test per individual per day

November 18: 16,259 tests per day

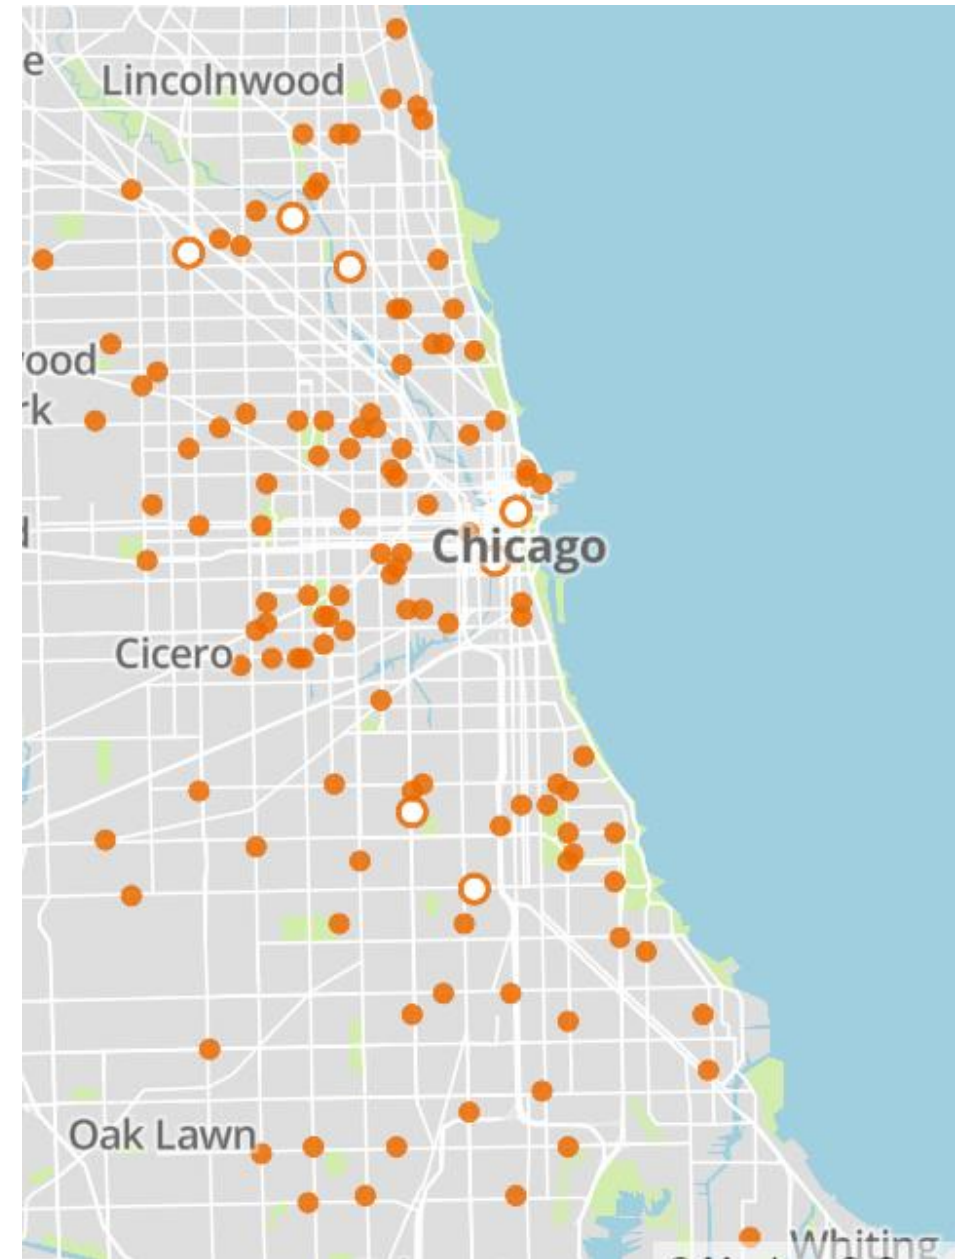

All COVID-19 tests performed on Chicago residents per day as reported by electronic lab reporting from IDPH. 7-day rolling average 4,500 tests per day represents the capacity to test 5% of Chicago residents per month, and is Chicago's stated target in our HHS testing plan:
