Reconnecting Neighborhoods Plan

Facilitated by the City of Chicago in partnership with the Regional Transportation Authority, CTA, and Metra

“New and revitalized housing in the Mid South Area will contribute to new commercial opportunities.”

“Bronzeville, a neighborhood with a rich history and culture, is in the midst of community revitalization that is growing in pace and scope due to the leadership and commitment of residents, community organizations, business owners, and elected officials. Its rapid recovery after the economic downturn is evidence that investment in Bronzeville is a winning strategy.”

Bronzeville Retail District Land Use Plan

QUAD COMMUNITIES: Connecting Past, Present and Future

Facilitated by LISC in partnership with Chicago's New Communities Program and the Quad Communities Development Corporation

“In the mid-twentieth century, Chicago’s Black Metropolis was a community where people of all incomes lived and worked together. In the first decades of the twenty-first century, that same potential is within our reach.”

“Quad Communities will become a place where a top-notch education is available to all, where residents walk streets that are attractive and safe, where the arts, culture and history are part of everyday life.”
