- Acceptable bid (s) are packaged
- Bid and contract documents are routed through the signature/approval process
- Contractor performance & payment bond, insurance and funding agency concurrence for award (if applicable) are obtained
- Contract awarded to the lowest responsive and responsible bidder meeting City specifications

Request for Proposals (RFP)

- Method used to solicit proposals to implement a new project requiring professional services.
- Used when the City doesn't have in-house technical experts or resources to implement project or services.
- RFP defines project objectives and scope of services, but doesn't detail every aspect of implementing project.
- Requires detailed evaluation of proposals by an evaluation committee based on criteria stated in the RFP. Low price is not the only factor.
- Award is made to the respondent providing the best value to the City.

Request for Qualifications (RFQ)

- Method used to solicit qualifications from companies who possess a high degree of technical expertise and knowledge in specific disciplines.
- City “pre-qualifies” companies to build a vendor pool to respond to future task orders (individual projects).
- Evaluation/selection is based on qualifications and technical competence.
- For A & E RFQ’s, there is no cost proposal. Fee schedule is negotiated later as part of the master agreement.
- Most commonly used for A & E design contracts and certain categories of consulting.

Job Order Contracts (JOC)

- JOC is a firm, fixed price, competitively bid, indefinite quantity contract specifically designed for each department's construction program.
- Method is used to accomplish small to medium size projects.
- Instead of bidding every small or medium construction job and developing plans and technical specifications, departments can use JOC.
- General contractors are solicited to respond to an advertised JOC specification which contains a unit price book (various construction tasks) with description, unit of measure and unit price for each task.

Job Order Contracts (JOC)

JOC continued...

- Award to the general contractor offering the most favorable adjustment factors against the price book (work performed during normal working hours and work performed other than normal working hours).
- Value of JOC contract depends upon departmental needs and budget.

Economic Disclosure Statements

- The EDS addresses the disclosure of ownership.
- Online completion of the EDS is mandatory for most solicitations.
- In addition to the applicant, any legal entity which owns more than 7.5% interest, direct or indirectly, in the applicant firm, must also file an EDS.
