Purpose of the RFP

- The DFSS Enrichment Year-Round Program RFP seeks to provide funding for delegates to implement safe, supportive, interactive, and engaging youth development activities, primarily for youth who are underrepresented, such as individuals with disabilities, individuals attending low-performing elementary or high schools, individuals who are English as a Second Language learners, individuals that are experiencing homelessness/unstably housed, and individuals placed in the foster care system.

Goals

- All Enrichment Year-Round delegates will provide youth with meaningful and enriching programming that leads to young people feeling safe and supported by trained practitioners; builds and reinforces social, emotional, and cognitive skills; develops positive relationships and belonging with peers and adults; and provides leadership opportunities.
- Ultimately, the Enrichment portfolio is seeking to enact policies and practices to engage and support Chicago communities and change the odds for children & youth by implementing best practices at the point-of-service.

Background

- Research has found that out-of-school time programs foster protective factors in several ways, including providing children and youth with access to caring adults and by promoting their health and well-being
- Participation in out-of-school time programs fosters the development of young people, resulting in a more positive self-concept, better problem solving and decision-making, more interpersonal skills, higher sense of belonging and connectedness, competence, self-efficacy, and agency
- The protective factors that participation in out-of-school time programs can provide have also been linked to fewer problems in childhood and adolescence, including lowered rates of substance abuse, fewer problem behaviors, and improved performance in school³
- These programs and activities provide critical foundations that support goals for healthy development and violence prevention
- Out-of-school time programs have a unique ability to adapt and expand services to meet the needs of the young people they serve
- This was especially true during the pandemic, when DFSS-funded programs pivoted to ensure that the basic needs of families were being met and that families could navigate the changing learning environments

Current State and Priorities for Improvement

➤ Current State

- In 2021, DFSS funded 9,685 youth slots to Enrichment programs that served over 17,000 youth ages 6 to 21
- Out of 925 youth that were surveyed in summer of 2021, 87% reported having a positive relationship with an adult in the program, 78% reporting feeling more hopeful about the future, and 74% reported the program helping to strengthen or build new friendships
- Enrichment programs were located in 62 of the 77 community areas in 2021, with youth residing across all 77 community areas

➤ Priorities for Improvement

- Prioritize enrollment of underserved youth and ensure appropriate support and services
- Programming that fosters positive youth development through accessible and equitable approaches
- Program design that continues to be more aligned with research in youth development and out-of-school time programming
- Focused programming and developmentally appropriate activities based on youth needs
- Prioritize continuous improvement, focusing on using data to make programmatic decisions
