Moving Through the Rental Assistance Application Process

I have submitted my application. What happens now?

We accept applications during the open periods listed on our website. Once the application period closes, our staff reviews applications on a priority basis. You will be notified when your application is being processed.

How do I check on the status of my application?

Once you apply, you can check the status of your application by logging in and checking the 'Application Status' at the top of the page.

How long should I expect to wait after applying before I find out if I have been approved?

The time between applying and approval depends on your situation and how quickly you and your landlord provide accurate documentation to support your application.

I was denied rental assistance. What can I do?

If you are denied rental assistance but believe you are eligible, you may appeal your denial. You will receive a denial letter that outlines the appeals process. After you receive the denial letter, you have 10 days to appeal. Follow the instructions on your denial letter to appeal.

My income has changed since I first applied. How do I report this?

If your income changes after you submit your application, you should update your application by logging back into your application and changing it on the 'Head of Family' or 'Family Member' tab, depending on who experienced the change. You will then want to delete the old documentation and upload your new documentation on the 'Upload' tab. After doing this, please re-sign on the signature page and submit. This will not change your initial submission date, but is required for our records.

I was notified that I am eligible for assistance, but now I'm being contacted to participate in a housing inspection. Why do I need a housing inspection?

We perform housing inspections to ensure compliance with the US Department of Housing and Urban Development's standards for rental assistance. Your unit must pass inspection in order for you to receive financial assistance. Housing inspections are completed by our partner agency All-Chicago.

Where does rental assistance funding come from?

The DFSS Rental Assistance Program obtains its funds from the Emergency Solutions Grant (ESG). The program is subsidized by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Due to COVID-19, the DFSS Rental Assistance Program has received additional funding from the Community Services Block Grant through the Illinois Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity. Please note all requirements are subject to change and this page will be updated as regulations and requirements are revised.
