MAYOR EMANUEL ANNOUNCES ZALDWAYNAKA "Z" SCOTT AS THE NEW CHAIRMAN OF THE CHICAGO HOUSING AUTHORITY BOARD

Also nominates Carlos Ponce to CHA Board

Mayor Emanuel announced today that Zalduwaynaka "Z" Scott will be the new Chairman of the Chicago Housing Authority (CHA) board, effective immediately.

"The Chicago Housing Authority's board will play a crucial role in completing the Plan for Transformation and tackling the important challenges facing Chicagoans with affordable housing needs," said Mayor Emanuel. "Z Scott has the track record of innovation as well as the experience needed to deftly lead this board."

Scott will replace outgoing Chairman James Reynolds, who was named to the Illinois Sports Facilities Authority board by Mayor Emanuel on November 18. Reynolds had served as Chairman of the CHA board since August 2010.

"Jim Reynolds served the CHA admirably during his tenure as Chairman of the board, and as a city we are thankful for his service," Mayor Emanuel said. "Jim led the CHA through important reforms and advancements, and he will continue to advocate for reform in his new role on the Illinois Sports Facilities Authority."

Scott will oversee the ten-member board as Chairman; the members serve five-year terms. After Scott's appointment, the board will have nine members and one vacancy.

Additionally, Mayor Emanuel announced today that he will nominate Carlos Ponce to be re-appointed to take the open seat on the CHA's board that was vacated by Reynolds'

Ponce served the CHA as interim CEO this summer, guiding the Authority before Charles Woodyard was named CEO in mid-October by overseeing revitalization of CHA properties and the implementation of new reimbursement policies for employees. Ponce had served on the CHA's board from 2003 to 2011 before retiring to serve as interim CEO.

The Chicago Housing Authority currently provides public housing for more than 17,000 seniors and families and serves nearly 37,000 families in the Housing Choice Voucher Program. The Plan for Transformation calls for completing 25,000 fully rehabilitated or renovated housing units by 2015, along with a complete integration of housing stock into the surrounding neighborhoods.
