

About the HomeMod Program

The City of Chicago is committed to increasing the provision of accessible housing options for people with disabilities. Administered by the Mayor's Office for People with Disabilities (MOPD), the HomeMod Program enables people with disabilities, who are under the age of 60 and of low to moderate income, to have their homes modified for accessibility. All residences qualify for modifications, from single family homes and condominiums to rental apartments.

A primary goal of the HomeMod Program is to enhance the independence of people with disabilities. An accessible living environment allows people with disabilities to fully participate in all aspects of life and creates greater opportunities for social, economic and educational advancement.

What kind of modifications can be made?

A licensed contractor, along with MOPD staff, will conduct in-home assessments of the client's home environment to determine what accessibility features will enhance the person's independence and safety.

Typical alterations include kitchen and bathroom modifications and the addition of interior and exterior lifts and ramps. Specific modifications can include the installation of grab bars, lowering cabinets and countertops and widening doorways. Subsequent work may include, but is not limited to: plumbing, electrical, carpentry, masonry, dry walling, tiling and painting. All services will be performed in accordance with federal, state and municipal accessibility legal requirements.

Modifications are based on available funding. Site inspections are performed by licensed, insured and experienced home remodeling companies.

What are the eligibility requirements?

- Must be head of household, spouse or legal dependent of the head of household
- Households with incomes below 80% of the area median income may qualify.
