

Utility Billing Relief Program

Annual Report to Council

April 2025

Program Overview

Since the City of Chicago (“City”) began increasing water and sewer charges to pay for needed infrastructure upgrades in 2012, there have been a growing number of homeowners struggling to keep up with the rising costs of their utility bills. This led to increased delinquencies and growing debts.

Founded on the same principles as the Federal/State Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (“LIHEAP”), the Utility Billing Relief (“UBR”) program provides low-income residents with a reduced rate on their water, sewer, and water and sewer taxes, as well as debt relief for those who demonstrate they can manage the reduced-rate bills for one year. Benefits for UBR participants include:

- A 50% reduction on water, sewer, and water and sewer tax rates
- Halt late payment penalties and debt collection actions
- Debt forgiveness after successfully completing one year with no accrued past due balance

To qualify for UBR, residents must be the owner of a single-family home, two-flat, or three-flat, reside in the property, and be responsible for their City utility bill. Once their utility account can be verified as eligible, they must demonstrate that they meet the federal income requirement for LIHEAP, which is generally at or below 200 percent of the federal poverty level guidelines. In keeping with the City’s Welcoming City Ordinance and ensuring undocumented residents have the same access to relief as any other resident, proof of residency status is not a requirement.

Operating in partnership with the Community and Economic Development Association of Cook County (“CEDA”), which administers LIHEAP in Cook County, the UBR program takes advantage of their expertise and extensive network of partner organizations to conduct outreach and enroll homeowners. Several online enrollment options are also available on the City’s website.

UBR was launched as a pilot program in April 2020. In October 2021, UBR was extended from a pilot program to a permanent program. In 2022, UBR was extended again to allow for customers in specific situations to transfer a property to a UBR-eligible recipient without requiring full payment of the charges at the time of the transfer. Customers who have not failed to successfully complete a program year more than once, who continue to be eligible for UBR, and who reapply can continue to receive the benefits of UBR.

Results

From inception through December 31, 2024, a total of 29,488 homeowners have enrolled in UBR, and many have successfully completed the program and re-enrolled for subsequent program years. There have been 59,234 total enrollments into the UBR program since inception. As of the end of December 2024, the average amount of debt forgiven per household was $815, while the average amount of debt forgiven for a household enrolling in UBR for the first time was $1,388. From inception through the end of 2024, a total of $31.9 million in past due debt has been forgiven, while another $12.5 million was set aside and eligible for forgiveness if participants complete a year of enrollment with zero past due on their utility bills. Participants have also saved another $33.6 million by receiving reduced rates during their program years. Overall, 90 percent of participants complete the program successfully and achieve debt forgiveness.

Demographics

Of the households enrolled in UBR, 47 percent identify as African American, and 34 percent identify as Hispanic. Households headed by women make up 60 percent of those enrolled and 47 percent of enrolled households are headed by seniors.

Program Expansion in 2024

During the 2024 budget cycle, UBR was expanded to include residential three-flat properties. This expansion was made to provide needed relief to low-income families sharing living expenses in these properties. As of April 1, 2024, the City began receiving and processing applications for homeowners residing in three-flats. A total of 623 three-flats were enrolled in 2024.

Approximately $1.7 million in past due debt was set aside. This equates to an average amount of approximately $2,800 per household eligible for forgiveness upon successful completion of a year in the program. Homeowners residing in three-flats who meet all other UBR eligibility requirements can enroll or re-enroll in 2025.

Current Status and Next Steps for UBR

As of the date of this report, the UBR program is nearing completion of its fifth year. It has been an extremely successful program, as evidenced by 29,488 households participating in the program, 90 percent of enrollees successfully completing the program, and their collective achievement of over $31.9 million in savings through debt forgiveness with an additional $33.6 million in savings through rate reductions. While enrollments grew significantly in 2024 (14,378 in 2024 compared to 13,207 in 2023), our goals for 2025 include working to ensure our outreach efforts reach as many eligible customers as possible, as well as refining the processing of applications.

Additionally, we will be focusing on outreach related to a new debt relief program – the Leak Relief Pilot Program (“LRP”). LRP launched on January 1, 2025. The program is available for customers who experienced a leak on the customer’s outdoor underground service line which was repaired on or after January 1, 2023. To be eligible, the Department of Water Management must have confirmed the location of the leak. Also, the property must be a residential single-family home, two-flat, three-flat, or a commercial property with a water service line 1” in size or smaller. The customer must own the property but is not required to reside in it. No proof of income is required. Customers who qualify for LRP will receive a one-time estimated bill (e.g., based on prior average usage) as opposed to paying the full cost during the time of the leak. Benefits are applied to the customer’s account. Customers can potentially qualify for both the LRP and UBR.
