Scope of Services

The Tax Assistance Program – It Adds Up® provides free tax preparation services to the working poor of Chicago to help them claim the tax credits and refunds needed to improve their lives. Through this service to the community, we combat poverty, educate families and volunteers, promote tax education, promote IRS and citizen relations, and encourage people to file their taxes to secure the refunds they have worked hard to earn.

The Tax Assistance Program – It Adds Up® will enlist the help of 1,600+ volunteer professionals to offer free, confidential tax preparation services to low-income residents at sixteen locations within the City of Chicago. Our goal is to help these clients take advantage of tax credits, including the Earned Income Tax Credit, which they may not know are available to them. Our free tax preparation services are available to households that earn up to $35,000 annually and our average client is a single mother with an annual income of under $15,000. We also operate a hotline for clients who have questions pertaining to their taxes or our services.

Our volunteers provide working poor families with free tax preparation services on Tuesdays in February and 10 Saturdays during the tax season. We recruit volunteers from top Chicago corporations, financial service firms, accounting firms, and banks in order to provide the highest quality service to our clients. Our volunteers, over half of whom hold advanced degrees including MBAs, JDs, CPA certificates, or other graduate degrees, are further trained by the Tax Assistance Program – It Adds Up® to be sensitive to the needs of our clients' socioeconomic and ethnic diversity. Translators are available to assist clients who do not speak English, and volunteers are careful to maintain confidentiality. We have been earning the trust of Chicago residents for over a decade.

The Tax Assistance Program – It Adds Up[®] also offers financial literacy education to help disadvantaged families in Chicago learn the steps to take control of their financial situation and actively work to improve their quality of life. The program was developed with the strategic planning assistance of McKinsey & Company, who contributed their services.

Through our financial literacy education services, families gain practical knowledge of opportunities to create and build their assets. Language, family and lifestyle issues, anxieties and fears, and other human concerns will be approached openly within the context of financial decision-making. Translators will be on hand to aid non-English-speaking clients. All participants will receive information to take home that will be produced in English and Spanish.

Justification for Non-Competitive Procurement: Tax Assistance Program – It Adds Up[®]

Exclusive or Unique Capability

The Tax Assistance Program is a not-for-profit organization that recruits its volunteers from many of Chicago's largest and most successful corporations, financial service firms, and banks, including all of the Big 4 accounting firms, 16 Fortune 500 companies, and many of the city's largest banks and regional accounting firms. Over half of our volunteers hold advanced degrees, including MBAs, JDs, CPA certificates, and other graduate degrees. Tax Assistance Program volunteers bring a wealth of specialized knowledge to Chicago's low-income families and are further trained and certified by the Tax Assistance Program to help families complete their federal and state income tax returns. Our volunteers are experienced tax preparers who are able to help families apply a number of credits, including the Earned Income Tax Credit, the Child Credit, and the Additional Child Credit, to secure the refunds they deserve. Tax Assistance Program volunteers contribute an estimated $3,250,000 in donated services, helping families receive an average tax refund of $1,300.

Tax Assistance Program volunteers also have experience serving a clientele with great socioeconomic and ethnic diversity. Our average client earns $14,182 and 71 percent of our clients earn less than $20,000 annually. Two thirds of our clients come from minority populations, with 43 percent being Hispanic, 31 percent African-American, and 2 percent Asian. Our volunteers are trained and experienced in being sensitive to the needs and situations of our clients and are careful to maintain confidentiality. The Tax Assistance Program also provides translators who help break down language barriers so that families who do not speak English are able to access the benefits the Tax Assistance Program offers. For clients who seek our services but do not have Social Security numbers, our volunteers are trained to complete the W-7 form that enables clients to obtain Individual Taxpayer Identification Numbers (ITINs).

Additionally, the Tax Assistance Program forms complementary partnerships with community organizations and corporations in Chicago to effectively execute community outreach and volunteer recruitment efforts. With over 500 community partners throughout Chicago, including churches, community organizations, and schools, the Tax Assistance Program has built and continues widening a network of relationships that stretches across the city to inform families about the resources available to them through our free services. Community partners publicize the Tax Assistance Program's services through bulletins, postings at their facilities, and distribution of flyers. In combination with the word-of-mouth of clients who have worked with us and trust us, community partnerships help drive community outreach and bring new families to our sessions. The Tax Assistance Program creates trust and builds a reputation of excellence within communities throughout the city by both effectively providing much-needed services and partnering with Chicago's most respected and effective community agencies.

Many of Chicago's largest corporations also partner with the Tax Assistance Program to provide financial support, volunteers, in-kind donations, and community outreach opportunities. Through strong relationships with senior members of Chicago's top companies, the Tax Assistance Program is able to obtain needed resources in a cost-effective manner. We are the only nonprofit in Chicago that applies the strength of a volunteer corps of over 1,600 business professionals to meet the financial needs of the city's working poor families and we intend to continue growing our organization to increase our impact on the city of Chicago.
